THE PERFECT CUT. THE PERFECT WINE.

Heart Of Rump 'Bistro' Steak

MONASTRELL

The ripe tannins in a young, light red like Cabernet Franc are perfectly matched with a lean tenderloin that has little to no marbling and is less rich than other cuts.

MALBEC /PRIMITIVO / CABERNET SAUVIGNON

Ribeye is the most marbled cut of the cow, and therefore the juiciest. A bold and full flavoured wine is the best pairing for the richness of the meat.

Centre Cut Ribeye Steak

Sirloin on the Bone Steak

SHIRAZ

Rump comes from a harder working muscle, making it firm but also highly flavorful. Look for a peppery wine that's robust enough for meaty flavours.

1

Going lean?

Match leaner cuts with lighter boiled wines.

2

Indulging?

Fatter cuts with lots of marbling pair with full bodied wines.

3

Young or Old?

The fat in food affects the flavours of your wine. Pair those juicy cuts with a well-aged wine.
